

Capt. Harris Kicks Field Goal That Gives Bay Shore Aviators Victory Over Pelham Bay Sailors

BAY SHORE AIRMEN BEAT PELHAM TARS

Capt. Harris Kicks Field Goal That Brings Fliers 3 to 0 Victory.

By FREDERICK G. LIEB.

The Bay Shore Aviators sprung a big surprise on the staid football gladiators of Pelham Bay Naval Training Station at Travers Island yesterday, the navy team winning a stubbornly fought contest by a score of 3 to 0.

The right tackle of Captain Harris, a former Washington and Jefferson star, brought victory to the Bay Shore fliers in the final period. Harris sent a drop ball hurtling over the bar from Pelham's twenty-five yard line for a field goal and the lone score of the game.

In the first quarter Harris missed kicking a field goal from Pelham's 36 yard line by a matter of inches. He made a beautiful kick, but the wind carried the ball a trifle wide and it struck the right post a few feet above the cross bar.

The two teams were evenly matched and both lacked team work. Neither team had any chance to speak of. Pelham Bay failed to make a first down by passing until the fourth quarter. Neither the sailors were guilty of frequent fumbling.

SILVER BIRCH ARRIVES. Mrs. Hanley's $7,000 Beauty to Compete at Horse Show.

Mrs. Walter H. Hanley and her $7,000 saddle horse Silver Birch arrived in New York from Providence yesterday to compete for the championship at the National Horse Show, which opens in Madison Square Garden next Monday.

The entire group of the show will go to the American Horse Show.

Silver Birch is a mare of mystery to votaries of the show ring. He has been under cover almost a year to make his debut at the great Garden show.

Although Mrs. Hanley's horse is a light and Driftwood Blake, respectively champion and reserve champion of last season's horse show, it is no secret that the horse is a wonderfully beautiful gray horse to be the star of her stable this year.

The Providence equestrienne, from the quality of her saddle horse, her proved skill in riding them and the perfection of her attire and her style in the saddle, is one of the stars of the tanbark arena.

GOLFERS IN CLOSE PLAY AT ST. ALBANS

Anderson and Martin Defeat Clark and Cameron by 1 Up.

Four professional golfers fought it out so evenly in a match at St. Albans yesterday that the outcome remained in doubt until the home team had been beaten. The winners were Carl Anderson and Herbert Martin of the home club and Jack Clark of the visiting team.

Anderson and Martin defeated Clark and Cameron by 1 up.

Anderson was at his best. He supplemented a 41 out with 35 coming back for a 76, ten strokes better than the best of the home team. He showed a 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

HIGH LIGHTS AND SHADOWS IN ALL SPHERES OF SPORT

THE passing of another week finds the big college football cupboard at the United War Headquarters still as bare as old Mother Hubbard's famous kitchen annex. The efforts of Bill Roper now seem to be confined to getting service teams here. Yale has asked Columbia for a game on Thanksgiving Day in the Yale Bowl. Columbia says, "Why should we go to New Haven? Let Yale come here—if the meeting can be arranged." In the meantime the fund suffers and the colleges bicker. Pride and reputation still are paramount.

President Lowell last week told Roper that he would not permit Harvard to play Princeton for the fund. Yesterday came the word that Harvard had arranged to play Tufts on November 2 and either Brown or Boston College on November 16.

Roper perhaps now realizes that in making his first big play to the Big Three he made a mistake. He was thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the cause and looked for a strong response. While he was trying to talk Yale and Harvard into line Rutgers and others were looking for persuasion. Rutgers, for one, still is looking for that chance. It may get it in an indirect way.

Pittsburg was scheduled to come to Syracuse on November 23, but the Pitt eleven has been induced to drop that game and take on Georgia Tech at Pittsburg instead. Now Syracuse is asked to release Pitt from its contract.

Syracuse says it is willing to release Pitt for the 23d provided the Panthers will go through with their contract on some other date. At the same time Syracuse offers its team to Roper for Thanksgiving Day. Since Rutgers also has offered its services to Roper it looks as if a match between Syracuse and Rutgers for the Polo Grounds on Thanksgiving Day were all ready for the United War Work committee to pluck. Foster Sanford told us last night that Rutgers was willing to meet Syracuse, the Navy or any other eleven at any time for the fund.

O'Neill Pleads the Case of Syracuse.

We have given the side of the War Fund in this football muddle—for a muddle it is—and it seems only fair to give one of the colleges a chance to plead its case. Frank O'Neill, the Syracuse coach, was in town yesterday, after having come down from Springfield, where his team defeated Dartmouth on Saturday. O'Neill, like many another coach, pleaded poverty for his college.

No one appreciates better than we who are connected with football the difficulties which Roper is working for us. He is working for us, however, should bear in mind that the college football teams this fall are objects of charity themselves. It was with a great deal of hesitation that we put a team on the field at all at Syracuse this fall. The athletic association ended the year $3,500 in debt, and under the uncertain conditions could not be asked to do more. The members of the association, some of whom were not producers of the college, have given their notes to the banks in Syracuse to meet this shortage.

"As the time for the opening of this season approached we who have been interested in Syracuse football considered that we owed it to the men who would be there in the Students Corps to give them some sort of athletics, and it would be impossible to get them any sort of equipment unless a football team could be brought in from somewhere. We finally decided to have the team, although I can say to you with perfect frankness that we would not have done so if we had known that Colgate was to be out of it. The Colgate game has made it possible for us each year to keep up our athletics. It was necessary for myself and several others to give our notes to the bank in order to get equipment for the candidates for the team. Then came the order that trips could not be taken in October and November. The bank would not take our notes unless we can have a Pittsburg game in Syracuse. Without Colgate, Pittsburg is the only team which will draw a representative crowd.

"We have gone a great deal further in an effort to give our boys some sports than any of the larger institutions. It seems to me that Mr. Roper should get the college of which he is a graduate to play for the War Fund rather than to take away from us the only game which can possibly save the season. It seems quite ridiculous to be charged with playing football for state receipts when our team hasn't even a rubber. If it can be arranged for Pittsburg to come to Syracuse on any other day we will be glad to give up the day and will offer the services of our team on Thanksgiving Day, if they are wanted and needed."

New York Would Welcome Syracuse Eleven.

We have no quarrel with Syracuse. It offers its eleven for the biggest day of the season—Thanksgiving Day—and that offer no doubt will be taken up by the War Fund. It is only to be regretted that the only team to see Syracuse in action. Judging from what the Orange did to Dartmouth on Saturday O'Neill has one of the great teams of the college world this season. Syracuse just ran away from the Green and piled up 34 points. A meeting between Syracuse and Rutgers should come pretty close to deciding the leading honors in the Northern section.

Princeton's informal team, the Orange, has been in the hands of the Tigers several days ago. Roper, who has been coaching at Princeton a few days a week, said that he thought the Tigers about as strong as any Princeton eleven in recent years.

Pennsylvania showed the effects of the war when it proved a victim of Swarthmore on Saturday. Columbia defeated Amherst and proved that it was a great eleven. The Orange, however, was not in the game. The star of the first magnitude with Penn State last season, New York University played far better than expected in holding the heavy Camp Merritt to two touchdowns, while Fordham enjoyed a romp at the expense of St. John's.

Macomber Out of Racing, Says His Trainer.

"A. K. Macomber will not race a string of horses next year," said Walter Jennings, his trainer, yesterday. "I have orders to turn out the thoroughbreds at Silverbrook, the old stud farm near New Bank, N. J., which was once owned by Appleby and Johnson. New York is now owned by J. Henshaw of New York. There are eight horses of Mr. Macomber at Silverbrook. I have seven head at Pimlico, which, unless I sell them in the next ten days, I will ship to Red Bank as soon as Pimlico ends. Despite some hard luck, some of which was due to human beings, I have had a good season. I have won in round numbers $50,000, which heads the list of winners for the season. I have won the three-year-old stakes, the four-year-old stakes, the five-year-old stakes, the six-year-old stakes, the seven-year-old stakes, the eight-year-old stakes, the nine-year-old stakes, the
